Lincoln, Newport, Providence, Warwick campuses
Applications for Fall 2013-14 • HMLS

Admissions Guidelines

The Community College of Rhode Island offers a certificate in Homeland Security. This program is open to all persons having an interest in understanding and working in the field of homeland security.

This 18 credit homeland security program consists of three different tracks in Emergency Management, Law Enforcement or Cyber Security. The students will choose one of 3 tracks they wish to follow.

Three core courses in Homeland Security (HMLS) - Introduction to Homeland Security (HMLS 1000), Intelligence Analysis and Risk Management (HMLS 1010) and Border and Transportation Security (HMLS 1020).

and

Three courses in Emergency Management track - Understanding and Responding to Terrorism (EMER 1010), Bioterrorism and Public Health Emergencies (EMER 1020) and Managing the Psychological Impact of Terrorism and Disasters (EMER 1040).

or

Three courses in Law Enforcement track - Introduction to Law Enforcement (LAWS 1000), Criminal Law (LAWS 1010) and Criminal Procedures (LAWS 1020).

or

Three courses in Cyber Security track - Introduction to Computer Forensics (COMI 2035), Introduction to Computer Ethics (COMI 2036) and Introduction to Cyber Security (COMI 2037).

Students may enroll in the Homeland Security Program for full-time or part-time study.

Admission requirements:

Requirements for admission into the Homeland Security program:

2. Students without a copy of their high school transcript, GED® or baccalaureate degree on file may apply to General Studies for purposes of obtaining financial aid. Once the transcript is received the student would then apply to "HMLS".
3. Students need to choose which track they would like to pursue: Emergency Management, Law Enforcement or Cyber Security.
4. Submission of an official copy of high school transcript or GED® or, if the applicant holds a baccalaureate degree from an accredited college/university, the high school transcript may be waived; college transcript must indicate completion and degree awarded.

Please note: requirements are subject to change.
