Admission Guidelines

Evenings Only

Through its Program in Emergency/Disaster Management, the Community College of Rhode Island offers a Certificate Emergency/Disaster Management. This program is open to all persons having an interest in understanding the causes of natural and human initiated disasters and emergency situations, planning for their avoidance and responding to and recovering from their effects.

This program consists of both professional and general education courses designed to provide a well rounded background in this professional field. Professional courses, designated by the course prefix “EMER” in the College catalog and semester Bulletins, are, at this time, offered only as evening courses. General education requirements are offered both days and evenings. Students may enroll in the Emergency/Disaster Management Certificate Program for full time or part time study.

Career Opportunities

Persons prepared in Emergency/Disaster Management are typically employed in government agencies at the federal, state and local levels and by business and industry in preparing plans and procedures for avoidance of and in preparation for and recovery from natural disasters, accidents and/or terrorist attacks.
