

Hiding and Revealing the Blackboard Menu

The Course Menu is critical for course navigation.

Students may find that they had inadvertently hidden the menu in their Blackboard course website, and not know how to get it back. The initial Blackboard screen will show a menu on the left side of the screen like the one shown below. You can intentionally hide that menu if you want to enlarge the right part of the screen with the course content on it by simply rolling your cursor over the heavy line dividing the screen.

A Known Blackboard Issue: The Bb Course Menu pull-out tab "Show/Hide Course Menu" is not visible when the browser window is resized to a smaller size.

View a demonstration video.

On an iPad or cell phone, or when the browser window becomes too small, the tab appears to the far right of the screen, rather than its usual spot on the left, and Users must scroll the window to the right to see it.

Once the menu is hidden from view, it can be brought back into view by rolling cursor over the extreme left border.

